

REBIRTH AT 95 KING

Posted on Dec 16, 2013 In Latest Updates

The conversion of the heritage property at 95 King Street East in downtown Hamilton to a combination cultural centre and artist live-work space is capturing media attention locally and beyond. This distinctive adaptive reuse project – a partnership between CityHousing Hamilton Corporation and the City of Hamilton’s Urban Renewal unit headed by Glen Norton – is intended to help spark additional commercial and residential development activity in an area of downtown adjacent to Gore Park.

The 95 King development is featured in a Renew Hamilton video case study released earlier this year. It includes commentary by Vimal Sarin, project manager with CityHousing Hamilton Corporation (pictured below).

RECENT POSTS

- Year II In Review
- Rebirth at 95 King
- Public Consultation Podcast
- Jennifer Keesmaat Address Podcast
- Heritage Inventory Project Podcast

CATEGORIES

- Audio
- Business Opportunities
- Education & Training
- Hamilton Economic Summit
- Latest Updates
- Media Releases
- Research Reports
- Speakers Series
- Uncategorized
- Video
- Video Case Studies

ARCHIVES

- December 2013
- November 2013
- October 2013
- September 2013
- August 2013
- July 2013
- June 2013
- May 2013
- April 2013
- March 2013
- February 2013
- January 2013